

THE UNIVERSITY OF WYOMING
SUMMER SESSION

Presents

THE SEVENTH
INSTITUTE OF
INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS

"The Struggle for Men's Minds"

July 23—August 24, 1951

"The conflict between Communism and democracy is a battle for the minds, souls, and allegiances of men."

—Gen. Lucius D. Clay

BEST COPY
Available

A public forum is held each Wednesday night during the Institute, with the hosts of questions, offering discussion, pertinent and pertinent questions. Above are Brian Haddy, British Consul; Dr. Felix Gross, Professor of Regional Studies in the Graduate School of New York University; Dr. Paul Albert, European economist with the United Nations Secretariat; and GALE W. McGEE, Chairman of the Institute.

Think on These Things

"I am convinced the Russians fear our ideas more than our armies." Winston Churchill

"Military power alone will never stop the Communist advance in Asia... Money

"The Big Truth is the best answer to the Big Lie of Communism"—Eleanor Roosevelt

"Arms and economic aid are indispensable but by themselves are not enough. Only in the field of ideas and spiritual values can victory be lasting." In a democratic society such as ours private citizens must take hold in public situations and supplement the work of the government." Joseph C. Grew

"The Soul of the world is sick, and the peoples of the world are looking to the United States for leadership and hope." Gen. Lucius D. Clay

"The United States must continue Europe and Asia that we can have peace and prosperity."

THE UNIVERSITY OF WYOMING SUMMER SESSION

Presents the Seventh

INSTITUTE OF INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS

"The Struggle for Men's Minds"

Second Term, July 23—August 24, 1951

GALE W. MCGEE, Chairman

FELIX GROSS, Director

"The Coolest Summer School in America"

"The Struggle for Men's Minds" will be the theme of the annual Institute of International Affairs, to be held at the University of Wyoming, Laramie, Wyoming, during the summer session, July 23—August 24, 1951. This topic, perhaps the most vital question of our time, will be discussed in an even more stimulating session than was the case last year.

The weekly open forum meetings will be held in the evening, and will be open to all students from all sections of this country.

The general problem of the struggle for men's minds will be discussed under the heading "The Democratic Way of Life will be discussed under the heading 'The Mind.' The Satellite Mind," "The Far East Mind," "The Middle East," "The Asiatic Mind," (China, Korea, Japan, Asia), and "The Western European Mind."

Recognizing that peace is everybody's business, and that citizenship is essential for the effective exercise of the democratic way of life, the Institute aims: (1) to stimulate better teaching of international affairs; (2) to encourage research in the field of international relations; (3) to raise the level of understanding of international relations by the individual citizen.

The core of the Institute is the Central Course, a lecture series with meetings five times per week. The first three days of the week are devoted to lectures by visiting experts in the field. Every effort is made to see that all major contributions are represented. A question and answer period is held after each lecture.

ophy and the modern languages. In all, nearly 100 hours are available on the graduate level and considerably more on the undergraduate.

For details and further information, write Dr. Gale W. McGee, Chairman, Institute of International Affairs, or the Director of the Summer Session, Dean O. C. Schwiering, University of Wyoming, Laramie.

1951 INSTITUTE OF INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS UNIVERSITY OF WYOMING "THE STRUGGLE FOR MEN'S MINDS"

SECOND TERM, JULY 23 - AUGUST 24

CENTRAL COURSE, 2:10 P.M. - 3 hrs. credit

FIRST WEEK, July 23-27: "The American Mind"

Norman Thomas, 1940 Socialist candidate for President of the United States and internationally known authority in the field of public affairs.

SECOND WEEK, July 30-August 3: "The Satellite Mind"

Grigore Gafencu, former Rumanian Foreign Minister and Rumanian Minister to Moscow and a spokesman for the young Rumanian Republic.

THIRD WEEK, August 6-10: "The Western European Mind"

Georges St. Laurent, lecturer on International Administration at the University of Paris, and the Institute staff will present summary and evaluation of the entire session.

FOURTH WEEK, August 13-17: "The Oriental Mind"

Taraknath Das, native of Calcutta, India, now Professor of Public Affairs in New York University and Lecturer on Oriental History and World Politics at Columbia, will discuss India and the Middle East.

FIFTH WEEK, August 20-24: "The Asiatic Mind"

Harold Quigley, Professor of Political Science at the University of Minnesota and specialist in the history and politics of Far Eastern countries, will discuss China, Korea, Japan and Southeastern Asia.

Each Wednesday evening a panel of experts will discuss pertinent problems of American Foreign Policy in a forum open to the public without charge.

COURSES OF INSTRUCTION

General survey courses on the 300 level which apply toward an undergraduate major in international affairs are not listed below. The Master of Arts degree is offered under either Plan A or Plan B. Undergraduates wishing to major in international affairs or graduate students seeking a Master's degree in the field may communicate with Professor Gale W. McGee, Chairman of the Institute of International Affairs.

FIRST TERM, JULY

History 646b, History of Foreign Relations of the United States. Three hours credit. M-F 9. Mr. McGee.

History 827a, Conference Course in Modern European History. (B). Hours to be arranged. Credit to be arranged. Mr. Larson and Mr. Nussbaum.

History 847a, Conference Course in American History (B). Credit to be arranged. Hours to be arranged. Mr. McGee.

Political Science 529b, Mexico and Central America. Three hours credit. M-F 8. Mr. Bloomfield.

Political Science 633, Conduct of American Foreign Relations. Three hours credit. M-F 10. Mr. Bloomfield.

SECOND TERM, JULY 23-AUGUST 24

International Affairs S660 (Central Course), "The Struggle for Men's Minds." Three hours credit. M-F 2:10. Mr. McGee and staff.

International Affairs S601, "The Recent Political Development of China." Three hours credit. M-F 11. Mr. Quigley.

Economics 619, Seminar in Socialism, Communism and Capitalism. Three hours credit. M-F 8. Mr. Kander.

Economics 685, International Trade. Three hours credit. M-F 10. Mr. Kander.

History 616c, Europe from the French Revolution to the Present (Eastern Europe, 1920-1951). Three hours credit. M-F 9. Mr. Quigley.

History 827c, Conference Course in European History. Hours to be arranged. Staff.

History 656c, Topics in American History (The Far East). Three hours credit. M-F 9. Mr. Quigley.

Philosophy 645, Social and Political Philosophy. Three hours credit. M-F 1:10. Mr. Crissman.

Political Science 522, Government of the Soviet Union. Three hours credit. M-F 11-10. Mr. Busby.

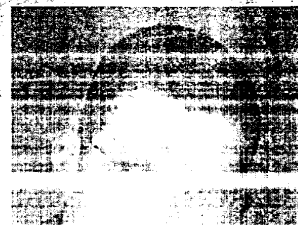

Political Science 631, International Relations. Three hours credit. M-F 8. Mr. Busby.

Political Science 638, Contemporary International Problems. Three hours credit. M-F 10. Mr. Gross.

Political Science 687a, Seminar in International Law and International Relations. Three hours credit. M-F 10. Mr. Gross.

CHAIRMAN OF THE INSTITUTE

Gale W. McGee, Chairman of the Institute of International Affairs, is a Chicago Associated Professor of American History at the University of Chicago.

town University, Professor of Public Affairs, New York University and Lecturer on Oriental History and World Politics, Columbia University (an American citizen since 1914); educated in India (Calcutta University); studied in Japan; A.B. and A.M. and University Teachers' certificate from the University of Washington; Fellow in Political Science and Economics, University of Washington; post graduate studies at the University of California, and Berlin, Germany; and post doctorate studies at Columbia University; author of India in World Politics, British Expansion in Tibet, Foreign Policies in the Far East, etc.; contributor to important magazines and journals; travelled extensively in America, Europe and Asia; lectured extensively in America; taught in Catholic University of America, University of Maryland, College of the City of New York, Queen's College; Visiting Lecturer

GAFENCU, GRIGORE, LL.D., The Sorbonne (Paris); born in Bucharest, Rumania; studied law at Geneva, Switzerland; in World War I flew with French air squadrons stationed in Rumania and received Rumania's highest military and police, owner and editor of two daily newspapers; entered Rumanian Parliament in 1928 and served until the break up of the democratic regime; Rumania's Minister of Justice in 1938; in 1940, Minister to Moscow; 1940-41, took refuge in Geneva, Switzerland; when Russia entered the war, author of 'Preliminaires de la Guerre à l'Est' and 'Derniers Jours de l'Europe', both books since translated into English, German, Italian, Spanish, Portuguese and Turkish; writes for French and Swiss newspapers; lectured at London (Chatham House), Paris, Strassbourg, Florence, Zuerich, Geneva; member of the League and executive committee of the European Movement for which Winston Churchill is chairman; participated in congresses of the Movement at The Hague (1948) and Bruxelles (1949); represented Rumanian democratic forces at the Paris Conference of 1946; resident of New York City since 1947; Visiting Lecturer

Studied in the Graduate School at New York University; author of 'The European Movement' and 'The European Movement'.

the University of Paris and at the Université européenne de la Sarre; Consultant, Secretary General, International Academy of Political Science and Constitutional History, Paris; Visiting Professor in several European Universities; author of many treatises published in Polish, French, German and Italian, dealing with public law, political institutions, philosophy of law, and constitutionalism; author of Comparative Administrative Law, Comparative Science of Administrative Justice, and many other books; spent five years in a German prisoner of war camp where he helped organize regular University studies; co-founder of the International Political Science Association; Visiting Professor THOMAS, NORMAN, LL.D., McGill University; Canada; spent five years in the United States five times; was candidate for many offices in the Socialist ticket; social worker; worked for Princeton University; worked for the League for Industrial Democracy; Chairman of the Post Office Commission; author of 'America's War on Slavery', 'Exploitation, What Is Our Destiny?' and many other books; participant in radio forums; Visiting lecturer.

QUIGLEY, HAROLD, LL.D., University of Wisconsin; Head Department of Political Science, University of Minnesota; President of the American Political Science Association; Editor of the American Political Science Review; author of 'The American Political System' and 'The American Political System'.

Author of 'The American Political System' and 'The American Political System'.